

SPELLING AND READING WORD LISTS

by Monica Foltzer, M. Ed.

Past Director of Intensive Phonics Institute

Graduate Department

Xavier University, Cincinnati, Ohio

Author of A SOUND TRACK TO READING

These lists arranged by means of rhyming words can be spelled without memorizing except for help in two directions. Where there is a word like sass, one must add, "Double the last consonant," after saying the word. Where one hears the /k/ sound, one must indicate whether it is c, k, ck, x, or qu, but without telling the child where it is located in the word... "Cat, that's a c; fox, that's an x; sick, that's a ck; quiz, that's a q, etc." Over 1500 words in the very first thirty pages of A SOUND TRACK TO READING can be spelled this way.

The instructor is to stress correct left-to-right sliding together of sounds as ba t, fa n. Even though these are rhyming words, one is not to focus attention one's attention at the end of the word first. The idea of rhyming spelling is that if the first word is correct, all the child has to concentrate on is the beginning sound, thus helping him achieve success in writing, spelling, reading in half the time

The most important skills to develop in spelling the vast majority of the words in the booklet is to hear the five short sounds of the vowels. If these are heard, the pupil can spell without memorizing at least 62% of all short words and the accented parts of polysyllables.

All should start with the simple, primary words. The older students should immediately add the ending ing thus spelling two-syllable words. The instructor dictates bag while writing it herself at the board. "Does it follow the short vowel rule? Yes. Add the diacritical mark. Now leave a space and add ing. The ing must be controlled by two consonants, so add another g which gives the word bagging. Underline the two g's." Do the same with gag...gagging, lag...lagging, etc., each in turn, step by step, using all the possible rhyming words on page 1. If the initial consonant is known, the result is perfect spelling for even the slowest child since all the endings of the root word are the same.

Dictate back. Since this has two ending consonants, we need only add ing. Proceed with hack...hacking, lack...lacking, etc. With words like bend, we also have two endings consonants controlling the ing. With match, we have three, one extra, but still the same pattern.

Since there are so many verbs in the beginning lists, an instructor has hundreds of words that can be spelled with ease in this manner. Everything depends on 1) hearing that first short vowel and 2) ascertaining that it follows the short vowel rule.

Later the verb ending ed can be added in exactly the same manner. It must be noted that root words that end in t an d will form two syllable words, and all the rest will be one syllable words.

One seeming exception will be words containing an x as in mix...mixing. We have only one consonant before the ending because the sound of x contains two consonant sounds, /ks/, so it does indeed follow the pattern.

A Sound Track to Reading Spelling List

Organized by Rhyming Families

Use the short sound of a /ă/ as in the Key Word apple or at – Lessons 1 to 5 bat	bad	an	back	am	cap	cab	ax	bag strand				split	spent	spring blond	craft	twist	brisk	crust	drift	stomp frond	graft	grist	frisk	trust	swift	prompt Plurals for man of the previous words can be dictated. After the voiceless t, p, k, and f, s will sound like /s/. After the rest, the voiced consonants, s will sound like a /z/. No matter what the children hear, if it is a plural word, they spell it with an s. This holds good also for the third person singular verbs. Listen to the examples:

Voiceless: mats caps tacks muffs slits bluffs traps Voiced: bibs lads rods eggs bells trims twins

Words ending in s, x, z, ch, and sh form plurals by adding es instead of s thus making them two-syllable words. See page 14 of A Sound Track to Reading for a good list of these words. All of the compound words on the same page contain short vowel sound and can also be spelled without memorization

These seven basic digraphs make new consonant sounds. Two letters make one sound. KEY WORDS: inch ship whip this thumb ring bank . – Lesson 13

chap	shaft	wham	that	theft	bang	tank	shrink chant	shell	when	than	thud	clang	blink	think chest	shed	whisk	them	thin	zing	honk	thing chess	shock	whiz	then	thump	stung	blank	thrush chin	shut	whiff	this	thick	hug	link	which chuck	ship	whim	thus	thrust	long	chunk	thrash

After short vowels the sound of /k/ is spelled ck in one syllable words. – Lesson 13 rack	crack	snack	sick	kick	rock	smock	duck sack	hack	smack	quick	click	sock	shock	truck quack	track	deck	wick	prick	lock	block	chuck lack	slack	peck	slick	thick	dock	flock	pluck jack	shack	check	chick	brick	stock	crock	stuck

In two or more syllable words, the sound of /k/ is usually spelled c. – Lesson 27 Note that each sound can be heard.

antic	tactic	panic	fantastic	athletic frantic	drastic	mimic	Atlantic	magnetic fabric	gastric	topic	artistic	inorganic plastic	hectic	tropic	cosmetic	Antarctic static	septic	rustic	organic	ecstatic

Murmur diphthongs: Key Words underlined – Lesson 20

car	or	her	sir	urn tar	born	per	fir	fur spar	horn	fern	stir	blur bark	morn	tern	shirt	spur mark	scorn	jerk	bird	turn park	form	perk	third	burn sharp	storm	clerk	first	spurn farm	sort	pert	twirl	churn harm	sport	term	swirl	turf part	sort	herd	whirl	surf dart	stork	perch	shirk	hurl s = /z/ c = /s/ g = /j/ – Lesson 26 & 27 nose	cent	gem

hoses	cell	germ
these	dice	gin
those	slice	gist
rise	spice	age
wise	twice	stage
is	place	rage
his	grace	page
as	space	wage
has	glance	fringe
pigs	chance	singe
drums	trance	hinge

The words below have short vowels. Note the pattern of two consonants before the le. If needed for comprehension, use the words in sentences. Ending le is introduced in Lesson 7.

babble	trample	mottle	jingle	stubble rabble	battle	cobble	piffle	muzzle gabble	rattle	hobble	sniffle	nuzzle dabble	gaggle	wobble	little	guzzle dabble	haggle	gobble	brittle	puzzle amble	straggle	coddle	whittle	humble gamble	waggle	boggle	spittle	grumble ramble	angle	cockle	nibble	stumble scramble	dangle	fizzle	quibble	rumble shamble	jangle	drizzle	scribble	tumble crackle	mangle	frizzle	ripple	fumble hackle	tangle	sizzle	nimble	jumble tackle	strangle	dimple	thimble	mumble shackle	meddle	simple	sprinkle	humble ankle	peddle	fiddle	swindle	rumple paddle	heckle	middle	kindle	buckle saddle	kettle	griddle	huddle	chuckle straddle	settle	riddle	muddle	bundle razzle	nettle	giggle	puddle	trundle dazzle	fettle	jiggle	ruffle	juggle apple	mettle	wiggle	shuffle	snuggle dapple	temple	tingle	muffle	struggle baffle	tremble	shingle	scuffle	smuggle raffle	pebble	single	bubble	jungle sample	bottle	mingle	rubble	bungle

Note the pattern in the following short vowel words: See Vowel Rules 5 & 7.
The consonant in the first syllable is doubled to keep the first vowel short.

daddy	snappy	catty	crabby	grassy penny	jelly	peppy	smelly	Nelly kitty	hilly	chilly	skinny	frilly silly	snippy	poppy	dolly	shoddy soggy	groggy	hobby	Bobby	lobby buggy	puppy	sunny	bunny	muddy nasty	candy	handy	sandy	flashy windy	sticky	frisky	risky	rusty slushy	jumpy	crusty	plucky	bumpy

Ce at the end of a word sounds like s /s/. Note the pattern for the short vowel words and for the long vowel words that follow. Consonant Rule 3.

dance	glance	chance	stance	prance	lance	France	fence hence	prince	since	whence	thence	since	quince	dunce ace	lace	face	race	pace	space	grace	brace trace	mace	ice	rice	lice	dice	mice	vice nice	slice	splice	price	spice	trice	thrice	twice

The first vowel in every word is the short sound. Suffixes: er, ed, ing. Note that the consonant is doubled to keep the vowel short. Vowel Rule 7. Lesson 24.

flatter	letter	quicker	copper	puffer	jumper platter	setter	sicker	stopper	buffer	printer matter	better	picker	mopper	bluffer	vaster chatter	wetter	thicker	shopper	snuffer	vender wagged	yelled	ripped	plodded	bogged	gulped bragged	smelled	chipped	prodded	jobbed	stamped flagged	shelled	flipped	nodded	clogged	milked nagged	quelled	stripped	sodded	logged	lisped passing	dimmed	blocking	messing	bobbing	resting massing	trimming	flocking	pressing	robbing	landing sassing	skimming	shocking	stressing	sobbing	lifting gassing	swimming	rocking	dressing	mobbing	sulking

The first sound in every word is the long sound. Suffixes er, ed, ing. Lesson 24.
Vowel Rule 8.

paler	diner	joker	cuter	filer	skater scaler	finer	smoker	user	wiser	voter whaler	miner	broker	muser	safer	blazer dazed	liked	choked	fused	pined	skated fazed	hiked	poked	fumed	baked	shaded blazed	spiked	yoked	cubed	craned	noted braking	hiding	droning	fuming	zoning	probing shaking	chiding	stoning	musng	framing	smiling waking	striding	toning	fusing	driving	trading

The third sound of o /o³/ of A Sound Track to Reading is Webster's long ō.

soon	proof	shoot	cool	room	boom	troop	goose moon	roof	boot	fool	doom	gloom	loop	noose spoon	hoof	root	stool	zoom	broom	hoop	loose noon	spoo f	loot	spool	loom	groom	snoop	moose

The third sound of u /u³/ of A Sound Track to Reading is Webster's short ū book	look	brook	good	hood	wool	looks	crooks cook	took	shook	wood	foot	poor	brooks	cooks hook	crook	nook	stood	soot	hooks	nooks	books

All the following words contain the short vowels. Why? Vowel Rule 1.

edge	sledge	hedge	judge	nudge	grudge	lodge	ridge pledge	ledge	wedge	fudge	smudge	sludge	dodge	bridge

After short vowels the sound of /ch/ is usually spelled tch. Five exceptions are to be memorized: much such touch rich which. Lesson 13 match	batch	retch	stretch	itch	notch	blotch	crutch hatch	thatch	ketch	switch	ditch	notch	splotch	clutch catch	sketch	fetch	twitch	stitch	scotch	hutch	Dutch

In the following words, w followed by an a, or a qu /kw/ followed by a, usually has the third sound of a /a³/as in the key word all.

wan	was	watch	warn	ward	swan	swab	squat wand	wash	wander	wart	warm	swap	swarm	squad wad	wasp	war	warp	swat	swamp	squab	squash

These words ending with the suffix -tion, pronounced /shun/, look difficult. Since the other vowel sounds can be heard easily, they are not difficult.

nation	notion	motion	traction	fiction ration	potion	action	fraction	diction station	lotion	fraction	section	friction election	invention	protection	relation	vacation reflection	distraction	quotation	rotation	taxation infection	objection	completion	location	inflation mention	ambition	privation	suction	population projection	promotion	vibration	reduction	education condition	starvation	plantation	exemption	compensation

Note from Internet Publisher: Donald L. Potter

June 6, 2018

It gives me great pleasure to publish Monica Foltzer's Spelling and Reading Word List for parents and teachers teaching reading with Foltzer's A Sound Track to Reading: an advanced intensive phonics method and reader.

I would like to express my deep gratitude to Mrs. Susan Greve for providing me with a copy of this rare and extremely valuable spelling booklet. Mrs. Greve was a student and understudy of Monica Foltzer for many years. She graciously provided me with copies of Foltzer's A Sound Track to Reading and gave me permission to publish it on my website, www.donpotter.net, for free educational use.

There are a total of 1,851 words in the Spelling and Reading Word List.

Mrs. Greve, also, provided me with a training video by Monica Foltzer, which I found extremely helpful in understanding the development and implementation of the program. The video is available on my website for students who would like to understand this intensive phonics approach to teaching reading.

A Sound Track to Reading with all the auxiliary materials and training necessary to successfully teach teens and adults to read is available at the link below.

http://donpotter.net/education_pages/a-sound-track-to-reading.html

A Sound Track to Reading is the perfect method for helping students from third grade and up who have been diagnosed with dyslexia or previously have had difficulties learning to read. It can be taught much faster than the typical dyslexia program, yet provides an in-depth coverage of the same phonics reading skills.

Three Important Observations on Reading by Monica Foltzers

1. "Phonics should be taught early and fast." (A person can learn to read with intensive phonics at any age, but the sooner and faster it is taught the better. Some popular dyslexia programs take two to three years to teach. A Sound Track to Reading can be taught in a matter of months, or even - in some cases - weeks.)
2. "If it's near enough, it's clear enough." (Sounding-out does not have to be perfect for students to identify words.)
3. "Anyone who can read can teach someone else to read if they have a system." (The caveat here is that the teacher has to have a system. Teachers today are taught a hodgepodge of strategies, but often are not provided with a complete, tight, winning system like A Sound Track to Reading.)

Sister Monica Foltzer passed away on March 21, 2001 at the age of 90 years old.
